

Presentation #1

Week #5- Fall 2023

PRESENTATION GUIDELINES

RUBRIC

- Read the rubric carefully. Any queries about that would be discussed in the upcoming class.
- The rubric is detailed and assesses different components of the speech. See how you will be marked.

DELIVERING THE PRESENTATION

- Have a creative and memorable introduction that hooks your audience and makes them curious about what is ahead.
- Be audible and have vocal variety.
- Make sure your idea is supported with relevant and credible evidence.
- Idea should be developed logically. The audience will just listen to your ideas once, so they should be able to follow the points made.
- Maintain eye contact with your audience.
- Paper reading is not allowed. Prepare and practice.
- You will be marked for posture and use of gestures. Gestures should support and augment the idea being discussed.
- Be confident and animated. Just think of this as an opportunity to share ideas enlightening ideas with your colleagues.
- The conclusion should be thoughtful leaving the audience with something to think about.

TIME LIMIT

- You have 1:30-1:45 minutes to present your ideas.
- Going overtime will lead to deduction.
- Ensure that your selected topic can be discussed within the provided time.

DRESS CODE

- Dress code is Business Casual.

PRESENTATION DAY ETIQUETTE

- Be in the class on time.
- Don't move in and out of the class, this distracts and disturbs the audience.
- Respect each other's ideas even if you do not agree with them.
- You will be called according to your placement on the Attendance Sheet.
- I will call your name only ONCE, if you do not come forward to present, you will NOT be given a chance to present.

VIDEO RECORDING

- Hand your smartphone to your friend, so they can record your presentation.
- In the case you have any questions/objections about the marks, the recording can be used to discuss the key points.
- Do not make use of any filters (Snapchat or Instagram) while recording. Any such video will not be considered if shown for a review.
- Video recording is mandatory for a feedback activity.